

Sarah B. Rose is a vocalist, pianist, and composer living in Eugene, Oregon. Rose received a degree in jazz voice from Cornish College of the Arts in Seattle, and has also won the award for best pop/blues performance of the year three times by Downbeat Magazine. She also has a love for classical singing and musical theatre, and has studied with Siri Vik for years. Starting piano lessons at age six, she became enthralled with the piano, exploring the styles of classical and jazz, among others.

Rose loves teaching, and teaches voice, piano, composition and lever harp to students of all ages and levels. When she isn't teaching or performing, Sarah enjoys yoga, gardening, hiking, and spending time with her loved ones, which includes a mini aussie named Lucy.
